Nothing is more painful than a lonely body and a desolate heart.

Destiny found neither the time nor the means to heal the pain accumulated in his plundered heart. She drifted away, not knowing what she was experiencing or feeling. Her experiences were whispered from ear to ear like a heartfelt fairy tale.

But she only wanted to wear a white wedding dress for the man she truly loved. Life played with her like an impenetrable labyrinth. She no longer had any strength left in her knees and no will in her heart.

Just at this time, a gentleman came to the rescue. She stood right in the middle of life, like a snowdrop. "My name is Destiny!" she said. "My name is Destiny, but enough is enough!"

Destiny was a young girl and a brilliant, successful student. But her life turned dark at the age of 17 because of a relative. A strong and hardworking woman became a mother at a young age and tried to hold on to life for her son Victor. There were times when Destiny almost gave up but stood up again only for her son, a mother who always stood upright despite the various quirks of her fate.

Running away from the love of her youth for fear of what people might say, life forces her into three marriages that end in disappointment in the Aşkın Peşinde (In Pursuit of Love).

Romance, romantic fiction, true story

When you read Destiny's story, you realize what kind of patience a human being needs to endure such torment and cruelty. You will not be able to stop the joy in your heart at the slightest beauty that happens to Destiny; you will not be able to help your heart from squeezing and crying at the slightest cruelty.
